RAUVOLET for mobile clinics in Ukraine

Medical care is vital for people – especially in regions where quick help cannot be guaranteed by the existing medical infrastructure. To react to such a shortage in supply, two Danish citizens with a strong personal connection to Ukraine started the idea of mobile clinics, an organization dedicated to bring medical help to those in need. In the name of mobile clinics, 50 medical trailers have just been provided to support with medical care in Ukraine, built by the local company PRAGMATEC. Valentyn Holovii, PRAGMATEC's director, selected RAUVOLET decor-line roller shutters to equip these clinics – due to their robustness, space efficiency and reliability.

PRAGMATEC decided in favour of the REHAU product for several reasons: „For this project, we needed high-quality, reliable materials that can withstand intensive use and protect the sensitive, valuable equipment. Punctual delivery in the required quantities was also important to us,” says PRAGMATEC director Valentyn Holovii. „REHAU fulfils both requirements with the RAUVOLET decor-line roller shutters.”

The polymer roller shutter system is extremely durable and is particularly suitable for small rooms, as the system can be opened without the need for room depth at the front. Another advantage in the mobile clinics: the roller shutter opening minimises the risk of injury from protruding edges of open doors. “REHAU is honoured that one of our products is contributing to this important and, in some cases, life-saving project due to its tried and tested properties.” says Andriy Arschulik, Sales Representative REHAU Ukraine.

According to Valentyn Holovii, PRAGMATEC is very proud to have co-developed a solution that helps people where other means are practically impossible – with RAUVOLET roller shutters being part of the puzzle to offer the best and safest solution.
