Zahnrad dental practice in Füssen, Germany

Design concept for a dental practice

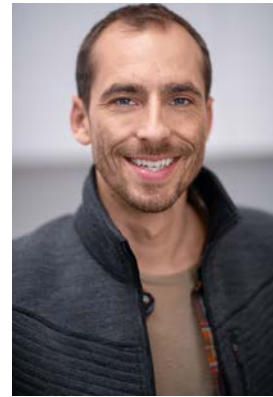

Thorsten Kraus' practice is located in Füssen in the Allgäu region. The newly renovated practice rooms follow a modern furnishing style and bear witness to an independent identity and a relaxed atmosphere.

#Wohlfühlenbeimzahnarzt is the guiding principle for the newly designed premises. The practice welcomes its patients with openness, warm wood tones, elegant white surfaces and accentuating acoustic surfaces.

The high-quality and glossy surface materials made of the glass laminate RAUVISIO crystal (Bianco colour shade) flow into the furniture of the treatment rooms. The light, hygienic and easy-care surfaces on the furniture fronts are well suited to the medical setting and create the perfect setting for the working environment.

FLIPDOOR storage solution and RAUVISIO crystal glass laminate surface materials

Treatment room number 3 features another design element: the FLIPDOOR storage solution. The straight-lined silhouette – without a visible guide system – is impressive at first glance. Even when open, FLIPDOOR is a real eye-catcher with its smooth-running and space-saving scissor mechanism.

Due to the tilting effect of the slats, the system only requires a small room depth to the front when opening, this minimises the risk of impact from protruding edges. The opening mechanism runs particularly smoothly and can therefore be operated with just a finger or the elbow.
